Clarks River National Wildlife Refuge Public Use Regulations 2024–2025

Welcome

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service administers over 570 National Wildlife Refuges. The primary objective of a National Wildlife Refuge is to provide habitat for the conservation and protection of all species of wildlife. Through this work to conserve natural resources, refuges provide communities with healthier environments, clean water, flood control and a stronger economy. Refuges also offer a variety of opportunities for the American people to enjoy the outdoors and natural heritage.

Hunting and Fishing Regulations

Hunting and fishing regulations are designed to provide safe recreational opportunities through wise use of renewable wildlife resources. Hunting and fishing are permitted in accordance with Federal regulations governing public use on National Wildlife Refuges as set forth in Title 50 of the Code of Federal Regulations.

Regulations new this year are italicized throughout the brochure to assist you in noticing these changes.

Valid permits must be possessed physically or digitally, while engaged in hunting/fishing activities on the refuge.

Annual hunt/fish permits are available at kynwrs.recaccess.com. For help with log-in, creating an account, or obtaining a permit you'll find instructions by visiting help.recaccess.com.

Once hunting and fishing are opened at Green River National Wildlife Refuge (Henderson, KY), a purchased annual hunt/fish permit will validate hunt/fish activities for both Clarks River and Green River National Wildlife Refuges in accordance with the refuge's specific regulations.
