Hi, Jennifer:

I did a Google search about refuges and aquaculture. The results included a link to a Center for Food Safety website.

As you know, CFS have been a complainant in a number of legal actions pertaining to refuge farming, including GMOs on R3 refuges.

Also, see the recent proposed ban of aquaculture and commercial fishing on Assateague Island National Seashore.

Hi, Jennifer:

I did a quick scan of the R1 Policy and Compliance Reference Site that Steve Moore created before he retired. It can be found at this site. It's often referred to as Steve's Brain. That said, my quick "brain" scan do not yield any hits for CDs about Aquaculture.

There also is a centralized database called CDRMIS to store refuge CDs and AUFs. However, I don't think it has received much use in R1 or other regions since it was deployed.

Kevin,
Do you know if there is any way to find out if there are other CDs out there for Aquaculture on Refuges? There used to be a CD database, but I don't know if anything like that exists any more or if it is being updated.

Thanks again for your help,
Jennifer
