Hello all,

I have started a new folder under DEIS Review Public Comments and saved the rough draft of the concern statement file here: DEIS Concerns and Coding

In that folder this is also a folder for the raw coding files as we discussed. I will upload those by end of day today – in looking at the concerns we realized some recoding needed to happen and are doing that right now.

As we discussed yesterday, all of these are working draft files so you will see our internal WSP notes about recoding, etc and we will work through this as you do as well. By our call next Tuesday we can give an update on how responses are going and what things are looking like.

Jacob, as you work through these, feel free to make notes about things needing to be split up (or combined) and we can work to make that happen. Please don't hesitate to reach out as you are seeing this much earlier than a "normal" process, but this is what is needed to get these moving along.

Thanks!

Lori
